

~~SECRET~~

STATEMENT OF MISSION AND FUNCTIONS

Office of Communications
Supplemental Programs Division
Auxiliary Functions Branch

I. Mission

The Auxiliary Functions Branch will advise the Office of Communications Security Division in regard to the security of CIA electrical cryptographic communications systems and will advise other Agency components in the application of related signal analytical techniques and instruments.

II. Functions

- a. Develops instruments and techniques for the monitoring of electrical communications systems.
- b. In support of Office of Communications Security Division, applies instruments and signal analytical techniques to the study of the security of CIA electrical cryptographic communications systems.
- c. Advises CIA and other USCIB components and agencies in regard to instrumentation and signal analytical techniques relating to the security of electrical communications systems.

~~SECRET~~